

The Economic Impact of The Coronavirus & How We Can Help

To our clients:

As many of you face economic challenges in these unprecedented times, there is relief available to help mitigate the impact of the coronavirus on your small business and your personal finances. Many small businesses are closed and unable to operate by government mandate or due to health and safety concerns. Many individuals may be without income or employment. The following are a few ways we may be able to help:

SMALL BUSINESS LOANS/GRANTS -

There are emergency relief programs for small business programs that are available. New York City, New York State and the United States Small Business Administration all have 0% or low interest, long term loans to assist small businesses affected by the coronavirus. The loans are for employee retention and working capital and to maintain cash flow. In addition, some small businesses may qualify for grants to provide financial assistance during these times. We can provide application support and help you navigate the process.

BUSINESS INTERRUPTION INSURANCE –

Small Businesses should have their liability and premises liability insurance policies reviewed and analyzed to determine what coverage, if any, your business has for business interruption and losses caused by coronavirus closures.

DEBT SETTLEMENT-

If you have personal or business debt that you cannot pay due to the coronavirus there are steps you can take to mitigate, reduce or pause debt payments. Contact your creditors and ask for interest or payments to be paused or deferred until you can start paying again. Your creditors may work with you. If not, we can try to negotiate deferment or settlement on your behalf.

IRS AND NEW YORK STATE TAX DEBT

If you owe more than $100,000.00 to the IRS or New York State on prior years tax filings, we can assist you in the negotiation of an Offer in Compromise and/or debt settlement. The coronavirus has caused unforeseen financial hardship on taxpayers. These current hardships, if documented correctly, could be the basis for new Offers or the resubmission of pending Offers. In light of the extension of the IRS tax filing deadline for 2019 tax returns for 90 days, this would be a good time to file for this relief, as Offers in Compromise require that current taxes be paid before consideration.

Thank you and Stay Safe,
